

SHAME ON TWO SISTERS

Jobs back NOW for 55
UNFAIRLY SACKED workers!

On October 3rd, Two Sisters poultry processing factory in Smethwick, sent 55 of their workers letters telling them they were sacked.

Their supposed "crimes"? - standing up against racism at their workplace and defending their union reps.

Two Sisters' behaviour is nothing short of shocking. Not only are they failing to take allegations of racial abuse seriously, their summary dismissal of the workers rips up the employment rights rule book.

Two Sisters attack on its workforce is an attack on our community. Unite and the people of this community will not stand by while 55 workers see their families' incomes destroyed and their reputations ruined.

TWO SISTERS - GIVE THESE WORKERS THEIR JOBS BACK NOW!
TWO SISTERS - TACKLE RACISM AT YOUR WORKPLACE!

Two Sisters products are stocked by some of our leading supermarkets, including M&S. We are urging these retailers to protect their reputation by using their influence to stop Two Sisters' shameful behaviour towards its employees.

The workers are also backed in their fight by their union, Unite, their friends and families, community leaders, local MPs as well as rousing support from private hire drivers and restaurant owners across the city.

Please help them win this fight for fair treatment - and get their jobs back.
