

SOUTHAMPTON CITY COUNCIL

DROP YOUR DEADLINE

Let talks produce a settlement

Next Monday, July 11th, Southampton City Council will start sending their employees to the dole queue.

4300 workers have been told to sign away their jobs - or be sacked.
Decent, hard-working men and women.

This is unfair - there is a better way. Last autumn, workers offered a wage freeze.
We wanted to help the city weather this storm.

Royston Smith and Jeremy Moulton rejected this. They wanted confrontation.

Now from the kerbside to the dockside, our city is in turmoil. Only negotiation will solve this dispute. Even cabinet minister Eric Pickles wants the council to talk.

But SCC must drop their deadline. People cannot negotiate fairly with a gun to their head.

Southampton City Council –
NO Cuts, No Threats, No Deadlines
Let talks work

If you agree, please email council leader
Royston Smith on councillor.r.smith@southampton.gov.uk

www.unison.org.uk

www.unitetheunion.org

UNISON
the public service union

unite
theUNION