

SAVE DIAGEO JOBS IN SCOTLAND

JOHNNIE
DON'T
WALKER OUT ON JOBS IN SCOTLAND

unite
the UNION

GMB

GMB@WORK

www.gmb.org.uk
www.unitetheunion.com

DIAGEO WORKERS STAND UNITED TO FIGHT JOB CUTS

Diageo's announcement on July 1 to close the historic Johnnie Walker packaging plant in Kilmarnock, Port Dundas distillery and the adjacent cooperage and further job losses at Hurlford, Shieldhall and Elgin will devastate Scotland's workers.

Diageo's plans will see 900 Scottish jobs poured down the drain.

The proposals are driven by sheer greed.

Unite will not sit back and let this to happen to Diageo workers and their families. It is a betrayal of Scottish workers and Scotland's whisky industry will be destroyed if we allow this to happen.

WE NEED YOUR SUPPORT TO STOP THIS NOW

Across the country, thousands are lending their voices to the workers' fight.

Johnnie Walker's last descendant and great-granddaughter Betty Heath has told Diageo to think again before they ruin thousands of lives and its Scottish whisky.

Betty says: "I cannot bear to think of all the men, women and children whose lives will be destroyed because of sheer greed. It makes me very upset.

"It is all down to money. Pure and simple. Diageo don't care about the history or about the people who worked their fingers to the bone to help make their huge profits.

"They are being tossed aside like old rubbish, the firm don't give a damn. Do they have no conscience?"

"I never knew my great grandfather but I know he would be horrified by all this. What he worked so hard to establish in his home town is being destroyed.

"As I am the only surviving direct ancestor, I will fight in his name to do all I can to keep Johnnie Walker in Kilmarnock and to help save those workers' livelihoods."

JOIN UNITE'S FIGHT TO MAKE DIAGEO SEE SENSE.

Send a message to Diageo CEO Paul Walsh today. It's easy, just go to www.unitetheunion.com/savediageojobs and follow the links.

YOUR SUPPORT CAN SAVE SCOTLAND'S JOBS