

Scottish workers Defend your pension

Take action on November 30th, 2011

The Westminster government has imposed a change in the method by which your pension is calculated, meaning that you stand to receive a smaller pension in retirement. There are also proposals, which have not been ruled out, that could mean that you are forced to work longer.

We now have no option but to ballot members working in the public service for industrial action commencing on November 30th.
