

Personal Health Budgets in Mental Health Survey

The NHS Confederation and National Mental Health Development Unit are carrying out a study to inform national mental health policy on personal health budgets and local implementation.

They are keen to hear from Community Psychiatric Nurses/Mental Health Nurses working with mental health service users in England, and we want to encourage you to complete their short survey.

The survey is being conducted amongst each of the major groups of professionals working in mental health and we hope you will participate in the survey.

They promise to act upon your feedback, views and opinions and say it is a vital part of the work they are undertaking. They are also interested in your views even if you have not yet had any direct experience of personal health budgets.

The survey should take no more than 10 minutes to complete. Your answers to questions will be totally confidential.

Thank you for your time and assistance.

The NHS Confederation is the independent membership body for the full range of organisations that make up the modern NHS.

The National Mental Health Development Unit, funded by the Department of Health and NHS, provides national support for implementing mental health policy.
