When and how allowances are generated

Due to the current absence of the allowances booklet, you may be interested to know how to work out your allowances for each trip you undertake, so we have reproduced the basics here.

Allowances, and where appropriate, sundries, will be paid for all meals whilst on service except when positioning.

Except in the case of your base station, allowances will normally be paid at the slip station and are triggered by the local time at the station the meal is due. Arriving at base, the allowances are paid at the preceding station in the currency of that country.

(N.B In addition, when flying to the USA and Canada, a double allowance may be due as shown below).
