ELECTION FOR NEW AMICUS EXECUTIVE GETS UNDERWAY

ON 24TH JUNE the Amicus Rules Conference approved the new Rule Book and on 15 July 2003 the Amicus Joint Executive Council gave the go-ahead for the election of a new lay National Executive Council which will take up office on 1 January, 2004. The election will be held in accordance with the new Amicus Rule Book. The new Executive will consist of 48 members:

32 seats will be allocated to industrial sectors with nominations coming from workplace representatives.

12 seats from geographical based regions with nominations coming from branches. The regions are Ireland, Scotland and Wales and nine English regions based on the boundaries of the Regional Development Agencies;

4 seats for women members with nominations coming from branches and workplace representatives;

Nomination forms for regional and womens seats will be sent to branches. Nomination forms for workplace representatives to make industrial sector and womens nominations will be available from union offices. There shall be only one nomination meeting for each branch or workplace representative. The forms must show that the nomination was made at a meeting that took place during the nomination period 1 September to 13 October 2003 inclusive

All forms must be completed and returned to the Returning Officer. The election will be conducted in accordance with the timetable that follows.

Nominations: 1 September to 13 October

12 noon on 20 October is the deadline for return of nomination forms to Returning Officer.

27 October

Last date for receipt of acceptance of nominations and election addresses from candidates to Returning Officer.

Week commencing 17 November

Voting commences.

5 December at 12 noon

Voting closes.

Who can stand?

Any member who is entitled to vote in the election for that position, will be under 65 at 31 December 2006 and is in compliance with the rules of the Union.

Who can nominate?

Every branch of the Union can nominate one member from their region and up to four women who can come from any region.

Every workplace representative can nominate up to as many members as there are vacancies in their industrial sector [see table over page] and up to four women members.

How are nominations made?

There shall be only one nominating meeting for each branch in the period 1 September to 13 October 2003 inclusive. Members of the Union as at 15 July 2003 who have subsequently changed branch may only take part in the nomination meeting of the branch of which they were a member as at that date. Workplace representatives can nominate for industrial and womens seats after holding a meeting of the members they represent, again in the period 1 September to 13 October inclusive. The nomination forms for workplace representatives will be available from union offices.

How many nominations are required?

A candidate in the regional seats needs at least five branch nominations.

A candidate in the industrial sector seats needs at least five nominations from workplace representatives drawn from at least three different workplaces.

A candidate in the women's seats needs at least five branch nominations drawn from at least two different regions and at least five workplace representatives drawn from at least three different workplaces.

Once candidates have achieved the necessary nominations they will be asked by the Returning Officer to accept nomination and provide an election address of up to 500 words.

Members who are nominated for more than one seat must choose in which seat to be a candidate.

Who administers the election?

The JEC have appointed Electoral Reform Ballot Services Limited, 33 Clarendon Road, London N8 ONW as the independent scrutineer required by Section 49 of the Trade Union and Labour Relations [Consolidation] Act 1992. The terms of this appointment and the requirements placed upon ERBS are in accordance with that section.

The JEC have decided that ERBS will also be responsible for the printing and receipt of all nomination forms on behalf of the Returning Officer.

The JEC have appointed Derek Simpson, Joint Amicus General Secretary as Returning Officer.

The JEC have appointed professor William Brown, Senior ACAS arbitrator as Election Commissioner [see below].

Who votes?

All members vote in the regional elections.

Retired, honorary and student members do not vote in the women's and industrial sector elections.

Who decides which industrial sector?

Some members are allocated to a sector by their occupation or profession but for most members this is decided by the Union's record of your employer. Unemployed members will receive an Industrial Sector ballot paper based on their last employer. Members who do not have an employer record will be allocated to the sector the JEC considers most appropriate – normally general industries.

Voting system?

The method of voting will be by first past the post (Rule 28 Clause 14)

Complaints

Complaints should be made in writing and sent with all backing paperwork to the Election Commissioner via Derek Simpson Returning Officer, 35 King Street, London WC2 8JG [see Rule 28, Clauses 16 – 25].

Craft sector

The United Craft National Committee shall be entitled to select 4 members [one each from Metal Mechanics and Pattern makers and 2 from the other united crafts] who are eligible to be candidates in appropriate industrial, occupational or professional sectors for election to the National Executive Council to take office on 1 January 2004. If any of those 4 members is not elected he/she shall be entitled to attend the meetings of that National Executive Council as an observer.

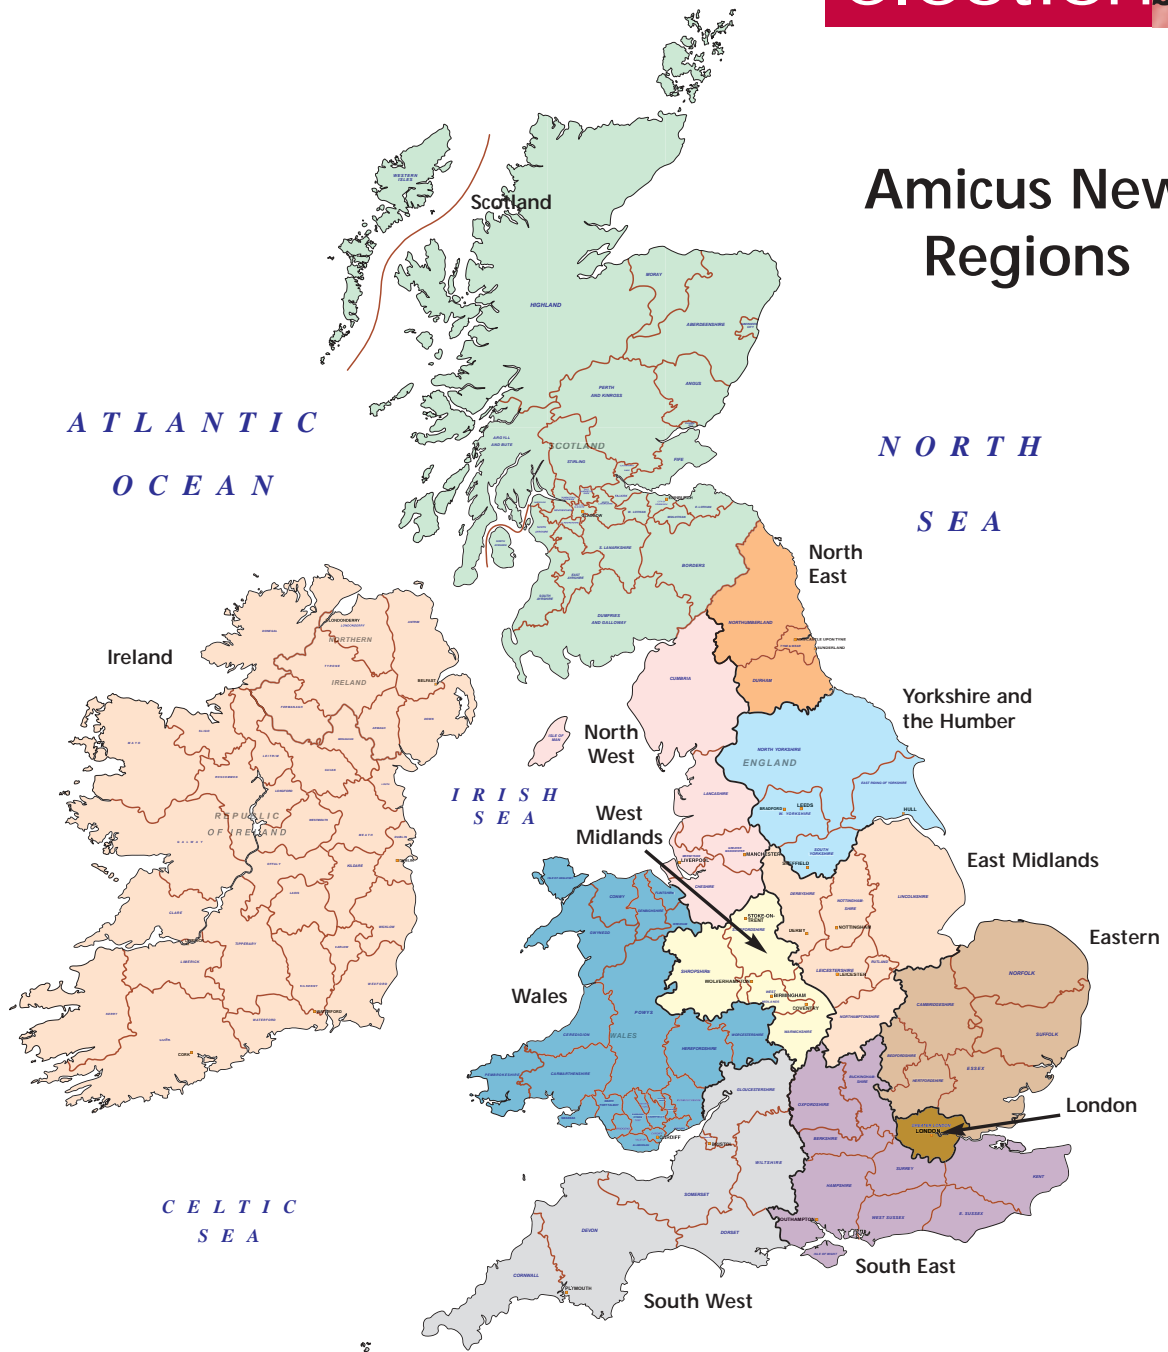

What is the period of office?

Members of the National Executive Council hold office for three calendar years from 1 January 2004. Vacancies which arise in the first calendar year shall be filled by election. Thereafter, vacancies are filled at the discretion of the National Executive Council.

What does the NEC do?

The government, management and control of the Union is vested collectively in the National Executive Council. Specific powers are listed in Rule 25, Clause 1.
