

Dear Colleague,

Let's Talk Toolkit

Welcome to the Amicus Let's Talk Toolkit. These materials are designed to support Amicus members in taking an active part in the policy building of the Labour party.

As General Secretary of Amicus I know how much members have to contribute on all areas of work and pensions. The Let's Talk events give the union a chance to make sure the party's policies are firmly rooted in the experience and knowledge of our members in the workplace.

The Labour party was founded by trade unions to represent the interests of working people. Amicus knows we have a responsibility to ensure that the party continues to do just that. This is why I am urging you to use this Toolkit.

For the same reason I am also hoping you will use the Amicus Labour party membership form to bring more of our members into the party. It is through trade union members taking an active part in the party that we can strengthen the relationship between Labour and the unions. This link is essential to the renewal of the party as a whole.

This government may not have delivered everything we would like or gone far enough in some areas. But it is only with a Labour government we have the opportunity to influence policy on behalf of members. We must use this opportunity.

Holding Let's Talk events across the country means we can play a big part in reconnecting the Labour party with the people it should belong to. With your support we can make this happen.

Yours sincerely,
