

Do you work for an organisation that works with and for disabled people?

Did you know that you can join Unite, the largest Voluntary Sector & Social Economy union in the United Kingdom?

Unite understands the distinctive nature of this sector, and the particular funding and development pressures faced within this field.

By coming together with your colleagues in the union, you can:

- Gain better pay, pension, holidays and sick pay
- Have a real say in how your work is organised
- Challenge discrimination and unfair treatment
- Influence and improve how your service is delivered
- Get advice and representation when you have a problem
- Develop a safer, healthier, working environment

That is good for you, good for your colleagues and ultimately, good for service users.

Join Unite today and help make your work a better place
