JOIN THE NATIONAL MARCH FOR JOBS

Defend jobs...

This global recession has touched every family in the country and Unite is pressing for clear and urgent action to defend jobs. There is much more the government can do to help workers weather this economic storm.

It's our future...

That's why it is so important that people send a clear message to the government that we want jobs to be its number one priority.

Assemble at Birmingham City Centre, Saturday 16 May 11am

Join the national March for Jobs

The March through Birmingham city centre will be the centrepiece of the union's Unite for Jobs campaign. Help us secure urgent action to defend jobs across the economy, including:

- a national strategy for creating and protecting jobs to ensure we have a clear road map out of this recession;
- speedier access to credit from the state-supported banks, to ensure immediate cash for businesses and jobs;
- implementation of a temporary short time working subsidy to save the jobs and skills of hundreds of thousands of workers
- investment in our schools, hospitals and homes to create green jobs and support those most in need during the recession;
- ending the UK's 'cheap and easy to sack' culture. Increase statutory redundancy pay. No second class workers - give agency workers full redundancy rights. Put the UK on a level playing field with the rest of Europe.
