Re. Department of Health 'Birth to Five' book

Dear Natasha,

We have received reports from some of our members raising concerns that the Department of Health publication 'Birth to Five' is being discontinued as a hard copy resource which presently is given free to all parents in England.

I am anxious that we do not respond to inaccurate information so was hoping you could provide clarity as to whether these concerns are based in fact and then we can report back to our members, hopefully putting their mind at rest.

Regards,
