

URGENT – TO ALL STAFF AND STUDENTS

Help us to save Bromley Adult Education College and your courses

The Government needs to reduce the budget deficit. Many people agree that cuts are needed. However, the Treasury are not convinced about the value of adult education. There is a very real risk that colleges such as BAEC will face a massive and disproportionate reduction in Government funding. This will result in significant fee increases and a reduction in the number of courses and staff. We must take action now, in order to save as many courses as we can.

We urgently need your voice and support as we try our hardest to persuade the Government of the importance of maintaining funding for adult education.
