Your Union is balloting for strike action on your pay

Higher education workers have suffered a 21% pay cut in real terms since 2009.

Universities have enjoyed a 33% increase in income in the last five years and the average basic salary for university vice chancellors is now £253,000, without benefits and bonuses.

Don’t delay. The ballot closes on 31 October.

If you have not received your ballot paper please contact your union rep.

Education workers deserve a pay rise.
